- Upper-Division Service Learning

CSUMB requires you to take an upper-division service learning course in your major, applying discipline-specific skills and knowledge to community issues and examining issues of service and social responsibility that relate to your career field. You satisfy the upper-division service learning requirement by passing a course in the major that carries an "S" suffix. You will find specifics regarding this requirement in each major's description in the Majors section of the CSUMB Catalog. You can also read descriptions of the upper-division courses that include a service learning component in the course descriptions section of the CSUMB Catalog.

American Institutions Requirement

You must demonstrate competence in each of the following:

- The U.S. Constitution (Area US-2)
- U.S. history, including the study of U.S. Institutions and ideals (Area US-1)
- The principles of California state and local government (Area US- 3)

CSUMB courses that meet all three areas: GS 200; ESSP 385, 388; SBS 212, 385

You may demonstrate this competence in any of the following ways:

- By completing the Democratic Participation ULR and U.S. Histories ULR with course grades of C or better
- By completing appropriate courses at a California Community College or another California university
- By earning official college credit for passing scores on the AP U.S. History exam (credits clear ONLY the U.S. History requirement) and AP Government and Politics: U.S. exam (credits clear ONLY the U.S. Institution and Ideals requirement)

Even if you earn AP credits, you may still need to complete the Democratic Participation ULR to meet the California state and local government component.

- By completing appropriate courses at out-of-state institutions you may still need to complete the Democratic participation ULR to meet the California state and local government component.

Graduation Requirement in Writing Proficiency

All students in the CSU system must demonstrate competency in writing skills as a requirement for graduation. CSUMB refers to this as the Graduate Writing Assessment Requirement. You satisfy GWAR by achieving a grade of C or better in one of the following courses:

ASMT 424; BUS 304; CST 300/300L; ESSP 300; GS 362; HCOM 312, 317S, 318; SBS 300/308; VPA 313
